

Building a differentiator

What is the value that your organisation is going to deliver to me which is unique and differentiated from everybody else which compels me to give to you? Why should I give to you? What is your value proposition? If you cannot convince the potential donor for what's in for him and why you, everything else is just a waste of time.