

How the credibility study of the organisation is done?

Several methods of data collection are used to collect information about the organisation.

These include

- Collecting and reviewing documents of legal importance.
- Reviewing Financial reports
- Interviews with funding agencies, members of governing board, members of other organisations with whom the NGO is collaborating and the beneficiaries.
- Group discussion with staff and beneficiaries.