

Accounting Systems - Computerization of Records

Speaker: Computerization of records is essential. Establishing tally software with controls is important. The danger with computation of accounting is that you lose track of the accounting trail. In a tally based system it is easy to go back and change a particular entry, thereby erasing all accounting trails. Your accounting record should be able to tell you a story. Accounting should be able to tell you exactly what you have done in your program.