

Who needs to be a part of the process of altering a Vision Statement?

The inputs come from the people at the top, who have the vision. They need to discuss the changes but you need a buy-in from the stakeholders. There will not be a radical change. Getting the buy-ins from the stakeholders will not be difficult but you need to know what things need to be changed.